

Whole White Pepper

A Product of Danish Agro Farms

Refined Aroma. Distinctive Flavour. Quality Sourcing.

Danish Agro Farms supplies whole white pepper for spice manufacturers, food processing industries, seasoning producers, wholesalers, ingredient suppliers, and commercial buyers across Pakistan.

We focus on quality sourcing white pepper from established international suppliers, with product origin, grade, and availability confirmed according to each order. Our approach emphasises raw material selection, quality assessment, and customised preparation to meet customer requirements.

Customers can purchase whole white pepper in bulk and request customised sorting, cleaning, grading, and packaging according to their specifications and intended applications.

Product Overview

Whole white pepper is obtained from mature pepper berries that are processed to remove the outer fruit layer and then dried. Compared with black pepper, white pepper generally has a lighter colour and a distinctive earthy, pungent flavour.

It is widely used in food products where pepper flavour is desired without the visible dark specks associated with black pepper.

Danish Agro Farms offers sourcing and preparation options according to customer requirements, product specifications, and available supply.

Key Product Features

- Whole dried white peppercorns.
- Characteristic pungent flavour and distinctive aroma.
- Light cream to off-white appearance, depending on grade and processing.
- Suitable for grinding and further food processing.
- Sorting and cleaning options according to agreed specifications.
- Grading according to size and other required parameters.
- Bulk purchasing and customised packaging options.
- Commercial supply arrangements for manufacturers and wholesalers.

International Sourcing Options

White pepper is sourced internationally from established pepper-producing regions. Potential sourcing origins may include:

- Vietnam: A major commercial source of pepper, with white pepper grades available through international suppliers.
- Indonesia: An established origin for white pepper, including commercially traded Indonesian pepper varieties.
- Other available origins: Additional sourcing options can be considered according to customer requirements, market availability, and quality specifications.

The actual country of origin should be confirmed for each supplied lot through supplier documentation. Selection should be based on verified quality parameters, sample evaluation, and the customer's intended application.

Bulk Purchasing & Customised Preparation

Danish Agro Farms offers flexible procurement and preparation arrangements for customers requiring whole white pepper in bulk.

Depending on available processing facilities and the agreed specification, services may include:

- Sorting: Removal of visibly defective or unsuitable peppercorns.
- Cleaning: Removal of foreign matter using appropriate methods.
- Size Grading: Separation according to agreed sieve sizes or customer specifications.
- Quality Assessment: Inspection against agreed product acceptance criteria.
- Preparation: Handling according to the intended application.
- Customised Packaging: Packing according to customer requirements and available formats.

Any additional processing or microbial reduction treatment should be agreed in advance and performed only where appropriate equipment and validated procedures are available.

Quality Inspection & Food Safety

We emphasise quality-focused sourcing and product assessment according to customer requirements and applicable food safety standards.

Depending on the product specification, quality checks may include:

- Country-of-origin and supplier documentation.
- Appearance and characteristic white pepper colour.
- Peppercorn size and uniformity.
- Characteristic aroma and pungency.
- Moisture content.
- Bulk density, where specified.
- Foreign matter and defective peppercorns.
- Mould and insect contamination checks.
- Microbiological and relevant contaminant testing, where required.
- Packaging integrity and batch identification, where implemented.

Final acceptance criteria should be agreed with the customer and aligned with applicable regulations and intended use.
